Color Meter for Coating Industry

Nowadays color formulas are complicated mixtures of components. Accurate color measurement instruments help the manufacturers in the paint and coating industry to realize the correlation between color meter results and the color you see.

Coatings accentuate buildings, protect constructions as bridges and make products more attractive for the customers. Coated windows are used as sun protectors. Complex color requirements need innovative and precise colour meter to have comparable measurements.

PCEs color meters make your workflow more efficient and help you to save time and money.
